Mr. M. Gershino of New York is here and will remain for some three months. Mrs. Gershino is a sister of Mrs. Olschwager who is here for the purpose of caring for the latter's children while she is in hospital in San Antonio where she recently underwent a surgical operation.

Woolis went to San Antonio today to let the doctor examine wounds he recently received when he was knocked from his horse by a tree while trying to kill an animal. The doctors found injuries healing nicely. He was expected to return in two weeks and probably final examination.

Those from San Antonio who were present at the funeral of Robert Bless were: Mrs. Robert Bless and children, Joe Rich and family, Robert Peter Bless and family, Mr. Mrs. Willie Rich, Mr. and Mrs. Giesler, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison, and Mrs. Chas Wagenfehr, Mrs. Hartung, Julius Bless, Randolph Johnny Rader, Mr. Carson, and Eng. Velma Bohlen of Hondo is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Willie Nietner at Yancey this week.

Bohlen and Ray J. Taylor, from Hondo, took in some catfish at San Antonio Thursday. They came back Friday evening, while Ray stayed till Friday night. Hy. says he struck a bad day. The market knocked all to pieces. He says he can't buy too cheap if he doesn't want to lose now. He says he had a regular gully washer in San Antonio early Friday morning.

Texans shivered Wednesday Thursday and wood piles grew perceptibly smaller. Old Boreas got to work and the thermometer fell to 20—12 degrees below the freezing point. This proved to be the coldest spell of weather yet this winter, or for several winters, for that matter. West seems to have received the brunt of the cold, as the thermometer according to the daily papers, is in the eastern part of the State. No early yet to forecast whether the severe weather we are expecting will prove a detriment or benefit to this section. There is no doubt that poor stock suffered, but it will result in a better crop as it probably will retard the growth of the weeds. It will doubtless be of benefit to the farming industry as it undoubtedly destroyed numbers of crop pests. But we are yet to hear a single intimation of a repetition of the weather prevailed here for two days and welcome to anybody.

The Hondo friends of Mrs. H. W. Kendrick, nee Albertina Horning, will be pleased to learn that she is making a splendid recovery from a surgical operation she underwent in a Boulder, Colorado, hospital last Saturday. Late advices from the hospital report her rapidly recovering, and the physician in charge anticipates no serious complications and thinks she will be able to leave the hospital soon. Appendicitis and other disorders necessitated the operation.

The Windsor Girls, the third number on the Legion Post's Lyceum course for the season, struck it cold here Wednesday night. Not many of our denizens would venture out in face of the bitter cold and, as a consequence, a very small audience greeted their appearance. The disappointment in the size of the crowd and the unavoidable discomforts of the hall made the program disappointing. Here is hoping the Windsor Girls better luck should they come this way again. The weather man was surely unkind to them this time.

Johnnie Cruseturner, who was tried and adjudged of unsound mind by Judge R. J. Noonan and a jury down at the Cruseturner farm last Friday morning, was taken to the Southwestern Insane Asylum, San Antonio, last Sunday evening. Johnnie suffered a severe injury in a jitney accident in San Antonio several years ago and has been an invalid ever since, and brooding over his helpless condition finally unbalanced his mind. He was a bright, promising young man before the accident, and it is the hope of the friends of the family and the young man, that the physicians at the asylum who have made mental disorders a specialty, will be able to restore his mental equilibrium.

WHERE THE RIO HONDO FLOWS.

I'm going out where the Rio Hondo flows,
Where the cactus and catclaw stand supreme;
Where the wild, restless winds of Springtime blows.
And the life of the West is all agleam.

Where Flag Mountain rises so high and steep,
With its cedar, pinon and pine;
Where the things of the wild stealthily creep,
Among the Cliffs of its steep incline.

Where a quaint little cabin stands out there,
Where the cottonwood and sycamore grows
Along the winding banks of the Hondo fair—
Out west where the campfires glow.

I want to hear the wolf come out once more,
When the sun goes down in the west,
And bark at the moon as it comes smiling o'er Flag Mountain's silent crest.

I want to hear the owl down there again
In the bottom, in the big elm tree,
As he joins the wolf in the weird refrain
Of the land of the wild and free.

I want to hear the cow bells come tinkling in,
When the clouds are all purple and gold.
I want to hear the mother's call on the wind,
As she gathers her young to the fold.

I'm going back where the Rio Hondo winds
Its way through the rugged hills—
Where the spirit of the West your soul entwines,
And gives to the West its thrills.

HONDO TO HAVE LYCEUM.

Hondo will again have a Lyceum course next season. A representative of the Dixie Lyceum Co. was here Monday and booked three of that company's most attractive musical features, and the lovers of wholesome amusement and entertainment are thus assured of that much which is really worth-while for the next season.

No civic organization in the town caring to guarantee the financing of the enterprise, because there are members in all such organizations here who do not approve of investing their organization's funds in enterprises of this kind, fifteen of the individual citizens, headed by Prof. J. D. Howell, signed the contract, thus guaranteeing the cost of the course, and it will be given under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association and any profits that may accrue from the course will belong to that organization.

Music lovers are to be congratulated on the securing of these splendid attractions.

Judge Haass, Treasurer of the National Farm Loan Association of Medina County, paid on March 1st, $15,000 as the semi-annual interest on loans to farmers of this county. There was but five delinquent interest payments and these are only temporary as these delinquents have promised payment the coming week, a flattering showing considering the extremely hard times the farmers and ranchmen of this county have experienced the past year.

Felix Batot, president of the Hondo Lumber Company, who recently received a severe injury to his right knee as the result of a fall from the lumber wagon, is slowly recovering and has been able to visit his office a few times lately with the aid of crutches. Now that the weather, we hope, will soon turn warm, it is probable that he will again be seen regularly at his accustomed place of business.

John Buss was up from Yancey the first of the week and was a pleasant caller at this office. Mr. Buss made a visit to the Ranger oil fields recently—probably to form an idea as to just how his section would look when the prospective Yancey oil field becomes a reality. Mr. Buss reports the Medina county folks now in Ranger well and prospering.

THE LEADER

THE LATE JOHN MOFIELD.

The body of the late John Mofield, accompanied by a military escort, arrived from over seas yesterday morning. It will be interred in the old cemetery, in the family burial plot, at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, March 5th. The funeral will be under the direction of the Hal Jones Post of the American Legion.

John Mofield was among the first of Medina County's boys to volunteer for service after the declaration of war with Germany. He was the first to reach the front and was the first to fall on the firing line, being killed at Chateau Thierry June 13, 1918. At the time of his death he was a corporal in the 76th Company of the 6th United States Marines. He was 24 years of age at the time of his death.

Surviving the deceased are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mofield, and several brothers and sisters. To those who have mourned, and like Rached, could not be comforted because he was not, there comes the soothing consolation that war has given back to them its richest spoils, the ashes of one of its heroic dead, to rest in his final long sleep beneath the sod of his native land. May he rest in peace.

H. E. Haass,
Vol. Ob., U. S. W.

Owing to the inclement weather Thursday night, the attendance at the Odd Fellows Lodge was light. Now that the winter is over, it is hoped that the attendance at all of the meetings of the lodge will be better than it has been during the winter months. At the next regular meeting next Thursday night it is hoped to complete the installation of the appointive officers for the present semi-annual term. All members who possibly can, and especially the appointive officers are urged to be in attendance.

RECEIVED HIS COMMISSION.

Our new postmaster, Mr. Finger, received his commission day and as his bond has already been approved, he is now eligible to take over the office whenever he desires to do so. Ever since his nomination he has been in the office familiarizing himself with the work, and the postmaster, Mr. Chancey, has been coaching him, and doubtless will have no trouble when he decides to assume the conduct of the office.

The incoming postmaster is a native of the county, and ever trusts his tenure of office will be both profitable and pleasant to himself and to those he is to serve.

To the credit of the outgoing postmaster, Mr. M. A. Chancey, be truthfully said that no incumbent of the office has ever been more accommodating than he has and in the opinion of the office ever made a more able request that was not cheerfully and courteously granted, and he wishes the good wishes of the majority of our people for success in ever business he will turn his attention to in the future.

This is fine weather for good roads. Taxpayers can see how our $800,000 bonds can improve our public travel in times like we have now. All they have to do is go to Lacoste, a little town located in a Southeastern corner of the county, and drive on those 60-foot wide graveled streets built out of this bond money which was (voted) to fix mud holes and bad places where most necessary to go to the County Capital.

I advise travellers not to go by Dunlay or Bader Settlement.

Here is hoping you road Supervisors of Precinct No. 2 will find a better way of mapping out roads, and let streets alone. Let town people take care of their town or get out in the mud like we do.

I am,

FLETCHERIZED FARM FACTS

By Fletcher Davis.

Corn planting time is here. Texas has made three good corn crops in succession. This fact, coupled with the comparatively low price that has prevailed recently for this cereal, is liable to have an adverse effect upon the acreage this year.

There is a kind of superstition that good crop years and bad crop years go and come in cycles. Those who believe this will reason that inasmuch as there have been three good corn years in succession it is time for the cycle of bad years to set in. Accordingly, they will not go very strong on corn acreage this year. But a careful study of the rainfall for the past twenty-five years shows that there is not much to this notion. In fact, the man who knows how, by taking advantage of such rainfall as does come, can succeed in growing some corn, and that most profitably every year.

During the exceedingly dry years of '16, '17 and '18 some farmers produced corn. Of course, the yield was light. But because of the scarcity of corn during that time the yields were profitable nevertheless.

One case in point was that of a Bee County farmer. He had a field situated at the foot of a large, semi-barren hill. This hill shed the water from its rocky surface almost like water flowing from the metal roof of a building. The meagre showers that fell on this hill-side poured down into the loose soil of a well-plowed field at the foot of the hill. By skillful cultivation the farmer conserved this moisture and produced a fair yield of corn, while all around him was a parched and desert waste. The next year he pocketed a nice sum of money and proved a benefactor by being able to sell a good quality of seed corn to his neighbors.

Of course, not many farmers are so fortunately situated as was this one. But the experience of another farmer, this time in Jim Hogg county, is more nearly in reach of all. He bedded his land in the fall and rebedded it again in the winter, raising a high pointed ridge and plowing out a deep water-furrow between these ridges. There being no moisture in the land to begin with, he had none to lose by this process. About planting time a quick, dashing shower of rain fell. It was not sufficient to wet the soil deep, but flowing from the sides of the steep ridges it accumulated in the deep water-furrows. The farmer took advantage of the presence of this moisture and planted his corn down deep in this water-furrow. After it was up and after each of the meagre showers of that dry season, he would run a heavy drag over his high ridges and drag sufficient of the dry dirt of the ridges down around the corn to cover up the moisture that had accumulated in the deep water-furrow, cut off its evaporation, impound it there and retain it in the soil for the use of his crop. That farmer too, had bread of his own producing when all around him famine conditions prevailed.

It is not always safe to plant too deep in the water-furrow—a wet season would have ruined this man's corn—and it is never wise to plant down on the cold hard subsoil. Corn should be seeded in a well prepared seed-bed of moist, well pulverized and moderately firmed soil. If this can be prepared well below the surface without being too closely in contact with the subsoil so much the better. In the growing of a corn crop "well begun is more than half done." Preparation of the seed bed is the "beginning of the corn crop."

Every farmer who grows corn at all should grow his own seed corn on a specially selected and tended seed plot. And his seed for this present planting should have been selected from this plot while the crop was still standing last year. If you have a good variety of corn why not begin now to improve it by selecting the most desirable ears of the same varietal characteristics and, in addition to your general planting, plant a seed plot for your future seed selection.

In selecting seed corn from the crib one can have no assurance that it will re-produce its kind, but no mistake will be made by selecting ears of the same size and type and with grains of the same formation. The ears should be well filled out at the points and well covered with a thick husk. A thick husk, closing tight over the point of the ear, is regarded as the best protection against weevils. Seed corn should be sound and, under a germination test, should show a high percentage of fertile grains capable of producing strong, vigorous and healthy plants.

If without such a supply of corn in your crib to select from, secure your seed if possible from a neighbor who has it. If possible avoid going outside of your own soil and climatic zones and purchasing unacclimated seeds. Such seeds usually prove a disappointment.

Let's not let unfavorable weather conditions at seed time, unfounded fears of a cycle of dry years, or the anticipation of low prices reduce our corn acreage to the danger point. The farmer with a crib full of corn is independent; without sufficient for his needs he is at the mercy of the man who has it. This independence is a stake worth gambling for—even at heavy odds.

Plant Corn!

MORE CORN AND BETTER CORN FOR MEDINA COUNTY.

The D'Hanis State Bank will give to the first ten boys of the D'Hanis Corn Club a ten pound sack of Ferguson Surecopper Seed Corn. Mr. Ferguson is offering $400.00 in cash prizes for the best corn raised from this seed, and we trust that some D'Hanis boys will participate in the division of this money.

The Bank is giving this corn to the first ten members applying for same with the understanding that it is planted and cultivated under the supervision of our County Agent, J. P. Ephraime.

The above notice from the D'Hanis State Bank shows the interest the D'Hanis community is taking in the Medina County Corn Club Contest. Fifty or sixty Medina county Club Boys will compete for the $400.00. I want to see that Medina county is a winner in this contest and especially do I want every boy to get the prize of a good corn crop. There will be other prizes offered at the Medina county Fair. Imagine what a pretty display of corn this will make. Each contestant will send ten of his very best ears to the County Fair which will make an exhibit of five hundred or six hundred ears. The prize winners will send their corn to the State Fair at Dallas, Texas, to compete for Ferguson's Seed Farm prizes. Boys, do your best in this contest and do not be afraid to ask me for information.

Yours very truly,
C. M. Merritt, County Agent.
P. S. Just received a phone call from Mr. Jack Stein, Club leader of Cliff, to wire an order for twelve sacks of Ferguson's Surecopper Seed Corn for twelve Cliff Club Boys. He says "Cliff is in the contest to win."

Think It Over.

From the Memphis Commercial Appeal: We wonder if our people are looking into the present trend of the cotton market.

We wonder if they realize that Europe is taking very little cotton. Do they realize that throughout the British Empire there is a spirit of unrest?

Do they know that France and England will import just as little as possible so long as they are staggering under the burden of cheap money as against our money?

Do you know that the world's consumption of cotton next year will probably not be as great as it was this year?

Under these conditions will they plant all the cotton they can?

If they do they will go bankrupt, but if they do this and then plant a lot of foodstuff they may be bankrupt but they won't starve.

But if they plant cotton alone they will not only go bankrupt, but they will starve to death or have to live off rabbits and persimmons.

The South should plant largely of foodstuffs this year. Then if they get any money for cotton they can use it to pay off old debts and hold their land for themselves and for their children.

JUST THIS MINUTE.

If we're thoughtful, just this minute, In whatever we say and do; If we put a purpose in it That is honest thro' and thro' We shall gladden life and give it Grace to make it all sublime; For, though life is long, we live it Just a minute at a time.

Just this minute we are going Toward right or toward wrong; Just this minute we are sowing Seeds of sorrow or of song. Just this minute we are thinking On the ways that lead to God, Or in idle dreams are sinking To the level of the clod.

Yesterday is gone; tomorrow Never comes within our grasp; Just this minute's joy or sorrow, That is all our hands may clasp. Just this minute! let us take it As a pearl of precious price, And with high endeavor make it Fit to shine in paradise.

When we hear a fellow condoning or praising the Ku Klux we wonder whether it's because he is one of the night prowlers himself, whether he is afraid of them or whether he has a mercenary hope that they will disturb public worship to dole out a Phariseical handout to his preacher.

This old world has gone mad with worldly-mindedness—a running after and worship of the idols of selfish and idle pleasures. When we get back to the principle of "let him who would be greatest among you be servant of all" then will the old world right itself. Service—unselfish, cheerful service—is the only way back to safety and sanity.

The Federal Government is considering a measure, presumably with the approval of the Federal Department of Agriculture, that if it becomes a law will place a federal inspector at every shipping point for green vegetables in the country. Pretty soon one can't have a helping of boiled cabbage until a federal official has first pronounced the cabbage head a good and square head, just such as is needed to fill the "innards" of a good law-abiding American taxpayer. Where, oh, where is this governmental meddling in private affairs going to cease and people be allowed to work out an honorable destiny unmolested?

The campaign for United States Senator to succeed Hon. Charles Culberson is not yet well under way but it has sufficiently developed to bring out some remarkably free things. One Stirling P. Strong announced as a Ku Klux and when he takes the oath as a United States Senator a member of the Ku Klux will be seated in the highest legislative council of the world. How expects his oath to uphold the Constitution to be accepted as binding while retaining membership in order whose only recommendation is its denial to suspected parties of a constitutional guarantee of a fair open trial is more than we can stand. Of all the effrontery on earth this is surely the limit. Of course Strong will not even raise a smile in the fracas, despite the odorlessness of his kind, and his worthy of consideration only for bringing this issue into the campaign. No candidate for that office can now ignore the question his affiliation or no-affiliation of this breed of night-prowling felons. Only those who put their country and its constitution above all else should have any favorable consideration at the hands of the voters. The French Revolution had its Jacobins. The Russian Revolution had its Bolsheviks. The Ku Klux are coming—and America can not afford to take any chances!

There bids fair to be a big fight in Congress over the adoption of treaties recently agreed to in disarmament conference held in Washington. And doubtless it is just as well that the Senate hesitate before giving its approval to the proposed agreements. At this distance it looks as if England came out the conference with our agreement to destroy some of our warships in order to remain second to England in naval strength while Japan our promise not to further strengthen our exposed frontiers against attack which only awaits her opportunity. What this country gets by way of tangible and substantial benefits in exchange is apparent at this distance. Bene Arnold negotiated for the surrender of only a small, unimportant out to the enemy. He was ostracized world over. If the Senate permits these base surrenders to our enemy and our natural enemies—should they get at the hands of American people?

Pains Were Terrific

Read how Mrs. Albert Gregory, of R. F. D. No. 1, Blufford, Ill., got rid of her ills. "During... I was awfully weak... My pains were terrific... I thought I would die. The bearing-down pains were actually so severe I could not stand the pressure of my hands on the lower part of my stomach... I simply felt as if life was for but a short time. My husband was worried. One evening, while reading the Birthday Almanac, he came across a case similar to mine, and went straight for some Cardui for me to try.

"I took it faithfully and the results were immediate," adds Mrs. Gregory. "I continued to get better. All my ills left me, and I went through... with no further trouble. My baby was fat and strong, and myself—thank God—am once more hale and hearty, can walk miles, do my work, though 44 years old, feel like a new person. All I owe to Cardui." For many years Cardui has been found helpful in building up the system when run down by disorders peculiar to women.

BEXAR COUNTY SHIES AT DIPPING.

The Commissioners Court of Bexar

eradicating the work of tick eradica-

Inspector in charge for

During the storm at Galveston a tent of the Salvation Army was placed in charge of F. A. Alverson, a member of that organization, with orders to stay by the tent. Alverson stayed. The storm became a gale and the gale became a tempest. But Alverson stayed. Finally the great sea came in and claimed the tent.
But Alverson went with it out into the Gulf. That was the last that the Salvation Army relief workers heard of Alverson for some days.
At last he came back for orders. He had gone out with the tent and then, by some freakish whim of the waters, his body had lodged in an old horse trough and was left on the beach.
When he was picked up and came to himself he went back to his unit and reported for duty. He had been ordered to stay and he stayed, storm or no storm. And that was all that Alverson had to say about it.

In time Alverson was ordered to Dallas and assigned the task of driving the Salvation Army wagon which gathers up second-hand garments collected for distribution to the poor.
Alverson went about his humble duty with faithfulness and cheerfulness.
He was content to do what he could.
Then one day a little over a week ago an automobile ran him down and killed him. So far as most of Dallas was concerned Alverson was just another casualty.

At the funeral, besides the ministers and the undertaker, there were but six people in attendance. The ceremonies were simple and brief.
And then his body was consigned to the earth. But that made no difference to Alverson. Alverson had a summons from General Headquarters and had gone to report.—Baptist Standard.

"MINISTRY."

The memory of a kindly word far long gone by.
The fragrance of a loving flower
sent lovingly;
The gleam of a sudden smile or sudden tear,
The warmer pressure of the hand,
the tone of cheer.
Such tiny things we hardly count as
ministry,
The givers deeming they have shown scant sympathy;
But when the heart is overwrought,
oh, who can tell
The power of such tiny things to make it well.

The most severe loss as the result
